

Patient Solidarity Day

One voice. United. Universal.

For newsletters sent out before the day

(Your organization's name) is proud to be supporting Patient Solidarity Day on 6 December 2014! This is a day when patients from across the world will come together to promote patient-centred healthcare. Patient Solidarity Day was created by the Morris Moses Foundation, highlighting patients' needs in Africa. They saw the importance of all patients to stand united and highlight the need for patient-centred healthcare. This has now become a global initiative championed by the International Alliance of Patients Organizations (IAPO).

The Day is when Patients and groups from all over the world and all kinds of backgrounds will join together to mark the day. The focus this year is on principles for universal health coverage: how patient-centred healthcare can become a reality where all people have fair and impartial access to quality healthcare.

On 6 December 2014, we will highlight the important issues for patient-centred healthcare, and the need for all patients to access equitable, high quality and affordable healthcare. We will be doing this by... (add details of what you are planning to do/ your activities for the Day).

Patient Solidarity Day – One Voice. United. Universal. Join us!

Visit www.patientsolidarityday.org for all information about the initiative and how you can support.

Keep up with news and events by following @PatientSolDay on Twitter and 'like' the Patient Solidarity Page on Facebook.